Equity Champion Award Category

We are committed to eliminating all forms of oppression and achieving systemic equity through the work of Parks and Recreation. Considering the Race and Social Justice Initiative , our goal is to make sure that race, gender, sexual orientation, physical ability or identification with any other marginalized community are not predictors of success, participation or access.

Equity = Access to the same opportunities from all different starting places.

How has your volunteer demonstrated our commitment to serving all residents as described above?

Champions have natural talents for leadership, team-building and advocacy. How has your volunteer displayed these talents while expanding access to Parks and Recreation participants?

A champion can sometimes be recognized for the little things such as spending a few extra minutes with a participant to tell them about an opportunity or go out of their way to accommodate a participant or family. Tell us when your volunteer did something extra.

Healthy Environment Category

Recognizing the restorative power of the outdoors, minimizing our environmental footprint and promoting sustainable food practices for all.

What have your volunteers done to create a healthy environment in a park, garden, food program or community? How have they demonstrated success?

How have they demonstrated our commitment to equity in their efforts to create stewards for the next generation? How have their actions increase the connection of communities with less access to natural areas? How have their actions made people feel more comfortable in and connected to natural areas?

a growing body of research says that human beings, especially children, should be spending more time outdoors. How has your volunteer helped in this effort?
